Guardians of Democracy Program Description

Developed in partnership between the Lou Frey Institute at the University of Central Florida and IllinoisCivics.org, the Guardians of Democracy Program is an online professional development program with extended learning opportunities for interested 6-12 educators. Our goal is to support a national professional development program and establish a network of certified educators across disciplines that embrace the proven practices of civic education to empower young people for college, career and civic life success.

The course series provides instruction on (1) strategies for current and controversial issue discussions in the classroom, (2) the role of simulations of democratic processes in the classroom, and (3) informed action through service learning. This program is hosted and administered through Free for Teachers Canvas, an open learning management system.

The Guardians of Democracy Bronze Certified Educator in Current and Controversial Issue Discussions Badge recognizes the successful completion of all Current and Controversial Issue Discussions course modules. This includes the completion of required assignments, portfolio entries and satisfactory performance in the discussions. Participants create a Portfolio of Practice throughout the course in which they reflect on how the course content can enhance their own practice. Participants use their portfolio to create a plan of action to implement one strategy to support current and controversial issue discussions in the summative performance task.

Course Objectives

• Module 1: Orientation

- Participants identify the objectives and expectations of the course and are aware of the important role educators play in preparing young people to be guardians of democracy.
- Participants engage in a discussion inventory to reflect on their own lived experiences related to deliberation in the classroom.
- Participants discuss the opportunities and challenges of student deliberation with peers.

• Module 2: What and Why

- Participants examine the research behind current and controversial issue discussions and why it is critical to teach students civil dialogue.
- Participants analyze the characteristics of high-quality student deliberation.
- Participants cite the opportunities and challenges of engaging students in civil discourse.
- Participants analyze four approaches to engage students in civil dialogue and deliberate the approaches with peers.

• Module 3: How

- Participants understand the relationship between current and controversial issue discussion strategies and the development of student outcomes related to civic dispositions, skills, and knowledge.
- Participants analyze three classroom strategies to engage students in civil dialogue, comparing and contrasting the classroom outcomes, classroom set-up, and protocol for each.
- Participants reflect on their own practice and discuss with peers which discussion strategy would best enhance their classroom.

• Module 4: So, Why Not?

- Participants identify potential obstacles in the implementation of student deliberation strategies.
- Participants examine and utilize strategies and resources to overcome the identified obstacles.
- Participants engage in an inquiry and dialogue with peers on the question: “To what extent should teachers share their views about current and controversial issue discussions?”

• Module 5: Next Steps

- Participants plan and prepare for a current and controversial issue discussion using the strategies and reflections they have gathered in their portfolio.
- Participants provide feedback to their peers’ plans to implement a discussion strategy in the classroom.
- Participants complete a culminating survey reflecting on their professional growth in the course.
- Participants explore opportunities for deeper learning through further badging.
